

Dunstable Centre Walk

approx 1½ miles - allow 1½ hours

P Park at Ashton Square, by the Methodist Church.

1 Head out of the car park past Wilkinsons and towards High Street South. Cross over the road and head right, towards Priory House. Continue right and walk along the road to Chew's House, and the Little Theatre.

2 Retrace your steps, and at Priory House, turn right and walk through Priory Gardens, passing through Priory Church graveyard, and emerging on to Priory Road. Turn left, and left again on to Church Street. Continue past Marsh Almshouses, the Norman King and the Old Palace Lodge.

3 Retrace your steps back up Church Street and turn right at the crossroads, on to High Street North. Walk along the High Street, past the Old Sugar Loaf, and cross over Queensway, towards Grove House.

4 Cross over High Street North. Turn right on to Regent Street, and left on to Edward Street, taking in the Victorian terraced housing. Turn left on to Albion Street and then right, back on to High Street North. Continue along High Street North, passing the seventeenth century stone and brick gatehouse, which is all that remains of the original White Horse Inn, a favourite of King Henry VIII who is reputed to have stayed there with at least three of his wives.

5 At the crossroads, turn right on to West Street. Continue up West Street and immediately after the car park on the right, look out for The Old Mill set back on right along track opposite number 97.

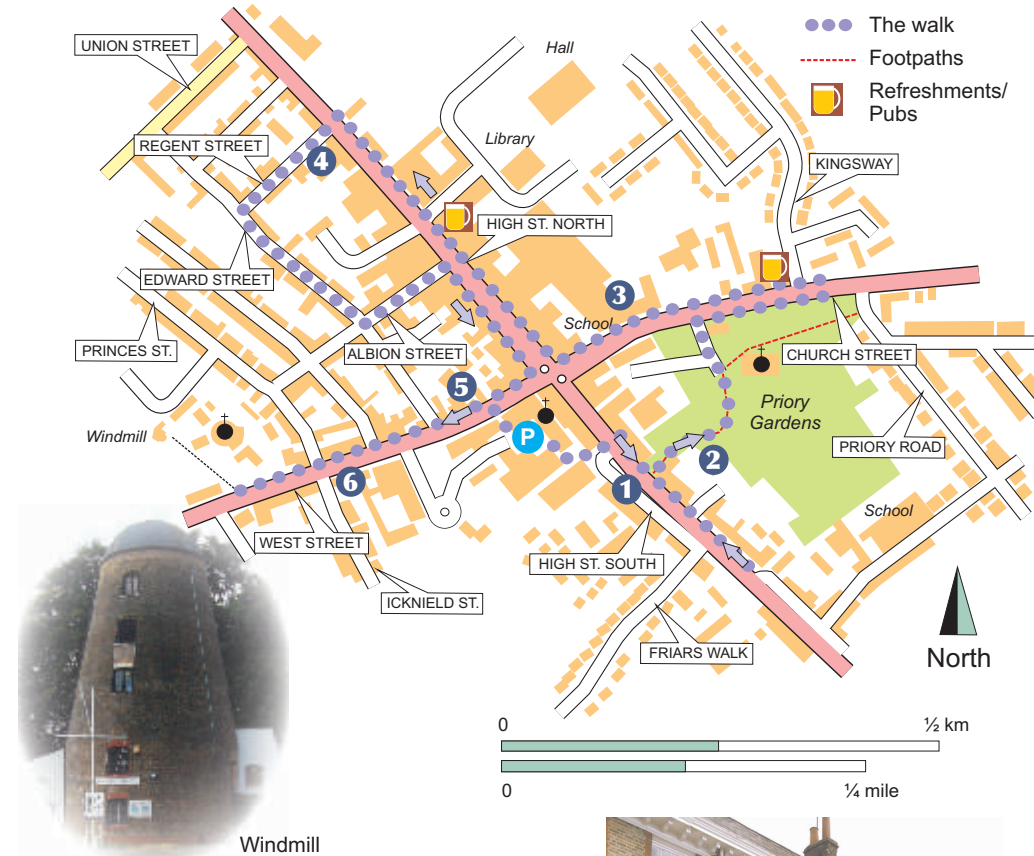

Priory House

Chew's House

Norman King

Windmill

6 Retrace your steps back down West Street. At crossroads, turn right on to High Street South and take in the many historic buildings. At the Square, turn right and right again, taking in rear view of buildings. Retrace steps to Square and turn right past Wilkinsons and back to car park.

Grove House

The Old Sugar Loaf